

NZ Community Trust Annual Report 2017/18

NZCT Annual Report 2017/18

NZCT is the largest gaming society and largest funder of amateur sports participation in New Zealand. Everyone at NZCT is passionate about the work we do and we're proud of the positive contribution we make to local communities throughout the country.

$44.742 million surplus generated in 2017/18 $44.572 million distributed to the community in 2017/18

Chairman's report

s ever, I'm honoured to lead NZCT in its mission to fund amateur sport and other worthy community causes. We are proud to be the largest supporter of grassroots sports participation in New Zealand through returning more than 80% of our total distributions to this purpose.

In 2017/18, we achieved a surplus, before distributions, of $44.7 million, which is 41.6% of our total revenue. We were able to distribute $44.6 million through some 2,200 grants to amateur sports clubs, rescue and life-saving services, education, health, the arts, and cultural and community groups across New Zealand. This is an excellent result.

Focusing on the threat of online gambling

This past year has been another one of challenges and success for the Class 4 sector. Minister of Internal Affairs, Hon Tracey Martin, has signalled her intention not to pursue the wide-ranging review of the Class 4 sector begun under the previous Government. She understands the value of the current funding model, which is best placed to deliver an efficient, fast and flexible grants system that community organisations will continue to rely on in the absence of significant alternative funding to resource the grassroots services they provide.

We are pleased that the Minister has asked her Department to investigate online gambling, which will increasingly impact on highly regulated and visible gambling types such as Class 4 and will inevitably raise issues around monitoring of problem gambling and not generate any funds for distribution to the community. We hope this new focus for the Department will produce robust research into the prevalence of online, gaming machine-type gambling which can be accessed locally. There is no reliable information as to local online accessibility and use, but it is inevitable that we will be impacted by the exponential growth of online sports betting and overseas casino-style websites, coupled with increasing online activity on the part of Lotto and the TAB. The blurring of the lines between video games and gambling is now a pressing issue for many international jurisdictions.

Influencing local and central government policy and strategy

We have achieved further success this year with increasing awareness and understanding of the need for balance in local government gambling venue policies, through constructive engagement with local authorities, more aligned messaging across the sector and increasing support and advocacy from grant recipients. However, we still have work to do in this space, especially in Christchurch and Auckland, where the councils have rolled over existing anti-Class 4 policies, avoiding the requirement to consult with important stakeholders, such as grant recipients. In our view, councils that do not engage properly with those most likely to be impacted by the decline of community funding grant recipients and suppliers of goods and services funded from Class 4 – are short-changing their communities.

In a collaborative effort with other gaming trusts, we rallied grant recipient organisations and other key stakeholders, to support the Class 4 sector on a key matter raised in the context of the Messara review of the New Zealand racing industry. The review recommended repeal of a provision of the Gambling Act that, if implemented, could have significant impacts on the availability of Class 4 funds for distribution to sports and other community organisations. In our view it was critical that the Department of Internal Affairs heard the community's voice on this issue and we were heartened by the huge response from grant recipients.

We have also made a detailed submission to the Ministry of Health on its proposed gambling harm prevention and minimisation strategy and gambling levy rates for the next three years. We raised important issues around accountability for and future application of previous levy under-spending, more focused and visible research initiatives, and recommended a fairer approach to the levy calculation, which currently penalises the non-casino gaming machine sector.

We will make further submissions in due course to the Gambling Commission, which will provide its recommendations to Government on the levy weightings, which will determine the share of each gambling type.

Thank you venue operators

I want to thank our hard-working venue operators without whom we simply would not exist. They continue to meet the challenges of the industry and support our efforts towards sustainability, efficiency and maximum return to the community.

I also thank Mike Knell and his staff, whose conscientious professionalism has been evidenced in this year's excellent result, achieved in an increasingly challenging and complex regulatory context.

Finally, I thank my fellow trustees, especially David Pilkington for his astuteness and fairness in chairing our Net Proceeds Committee and Kerry Prendergast for her professional expertise chairing our Audit and Risk Committee. Finally, I thank the many dedicated members of our Regional Advisory Committees for their outstanding support again this year.

Chief Executive's report

Reporting another solid financial result

I am pleased to report another solid financial result this year, which is the product of the ongoing hard work and commitment of our venue operators and NZCT staff. Achieving a good community return above the legal minimum of 40% continues to be challenging given we operate in an increasingly complex environment, against forces beyond our direct control.

Supporting local communities

I commend our Operations, Finance, Compliance, Grants and Communications teams, who continue to explore innovative solutions, including the application of technology, so we can better serve our customers and meet the demands of the New Zealand community.

We know many of the organisations that receive our grants would struggle to survive without our funding. We also know we make a huge contribution to New Zealand communities and are proud to do so.

Providing safe entertainment

NZCT works hard to support our venue operators and their customers, ensuring our venues are safe entertainment environments. We continue to develop our central call centre to respond quickly to venue issues, which significantly reduces machine down-time. We see this as a point of difference in the market; one which is cost-effective and provides us with flexibility that, importantly, keeps the focus on the needs of our customers.

Our strategy is prudent investment in machines and other assets, ensuring we offer some of the most up-to-date gaming products in the market.

Our approach and commitment to compliance and continual improvement in all that we do has again been recognised in our recertification of ISO 9001:2015. We are proud to take a lead in industry best practice and work collaboratively with sector colleagues, in consultation with the regulator. As an industry we can be proud of the Class 4 model, which is unique in the world. It is transparent and accountable, delivering huge benefit to local communities, through the distribution of 100 per cent of gaming profits.

Distributing over $44 million to local communities

The detail of NZCT's grant funding in 2017/18 can be seen in the following 'Funds at a glance for 2018' tables. Our Grants and Accountability teams continue to work hard to improve the experience of all those applying for and receiving grants, ensuring the online process is easy, efficient and rewarding for applicants.

Focusing on best-practice harm minimisation

As always, we take our responsibilities towards the patrons of our venues very seriously. This year we have worked positively and collaboratively with our regulator, the Department of Internal Affairs, Ministry of Health and gambling provider services, on measures to further improve our own and the sector's approach to harm prevention and minimisation.

While New Zealand has one of the lowest problem gambling rates in the world – affecting only 0.2% of the adult population, according to the latest research – we are fully committed to making sure problem gamblers receive the specialist help they need, and we will continue to invest in this area.

NZCT is among several societies that have piloted innovative facial recognition technology, to help venue staff monitor for gamblers who have self-excluded from gambling venues. We have extended our trial of technology into six of our high-turnover venues with large numbers of excluded gamblers and are already seeing positive results, including a successful deterrent effect. The technology requires a significant and sustained investment. Accordingly, we will continue to lobby for some of our problem gambling levy to be applied to these advances, including the on-going maintenance of a national database. the costs of which have to date been borne entirely by the sector.

Acknowledging the dedication of our regional staff

Finally, I acknowledge our hard-working regional managers and their staff, who are out in the field daily, in support of our operators and venue staff.

Our management and operational teams are proud of NZCT's strong sports focus and the values-based principles adopted throughout our organisation, which make working for NZCT both a pleasure and a passion. We look forward to working even harder to ensure sustainability of community grant funding. We believe all young Kiwis should have equal opportunities to play sport and engage in recreational activities, which improve the health and well-being of our communities.
